Bremen, Germany, 1970

Lives and works in London, United Kingdom

Julia Fullerton-Batten studied at the Berkshire College of Art & Design, Reading, UK, from 1990 to 1992. She worked as a freelance photographer from 1994 to 2000. She began her career as a photographer in 2001.

Teenage Stories

'Without doubt, my teenager series is work reflecting my childhood memories, growing up with my sisters in rural Pennsylvania and later in a country town in Germany. My recollections are that we three sisters spent our time drifting through life, cocooned from its harsh realities, lost in dreams and fantasies. The contrast with my adult years is pronounced: now every day has a set of objectives. When I saw the first of the miniature villages I knew this would be the perfect backdrop for the series. The strangeness of the environment echoed my memories, looking for a symbolism that would enhance my image of my childhood. The teenagers that I photograph in these miniature villages are transformed. Now, they are giants moving through a fantasy world, one in which they are in control and remain unthreatened.'
